The Story and You™

Sacred Conversations

FIFTH SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

That famous second reading today---I Corinthians 15:1-11--- always fills me with hope. This is the chapter where St. Paul, writing to the church in the port city of Corinth, Greece, some-time between 53-55 AD, gives an account of who the people were who were eyewitnesses to the Risen Christ.

Now, this is a MUCH longer list than any given in the gospels, and it's also coming at least fifteen years before even Mark, the earliest gospel, was written. That's what makes it so exciting. St. Paul is giving a list of the known eyewitnesses to the resurrection, many of whom, he says, "are still living today."

He lists Cephas (St. Peter) as the first eyewitness, followed by the Twelve, and then five hundred, then James (who became the leader of the Jerusalem church in the years after the resurrection), then other apostles, and, finally, to St. Paul himself. Mysteriously, none of the women who are so prominent in the gospel resurrection stories were mentioned, or probably even known by Paul.

The reason this stirs my faith so much is that if this weren't true, it could easily be found out. All it would take would be to ask any of the people Paul named to confirm it. But Paul is so confident in this that he names the eyewitnesses, many of whom were very much alive in the mid-50s.

At a distance of 2,000 years, it's a matter of trusting this account by St. Paul, and the accounts of the gospels. But in St. Paul's day, he confidently assured his readers that these eyewitnesses were alive on the day he wrote his letter, and available for interviewing. That's so exciting.

Imagine interviewing Mary Magdalene about her encounter with the Risen Christ.

The loss of a loved one is never easy and often leaves us feeling lost and alone. The Grieving with Great Hope ministry is a Catholic bereavement resource that offers hope and healing to those who are mourning the loss of a loved one. If you have recently, or not so recently suffered a loss, we can help. There truly is HOPE and HEALING ahead for you. Our sessions will offer you tools to help you navigate the grief process and help you to build a bridge to a new and different life. You will also have the opportunity to form a support network by meeting others who have suffered a similar loss. The first step is always the most difficult, but we encourage you to take that first step in the healing process.

Spirit of Christ's next 5 session workshop will be offered February 15th – March 15th on Saturday mornings from 9:30am-12 Noon. There is a $25 fee to cover materials. Sign up for the sessions is online at spiritofchrist.org. Click on the Registrations tab.
